

Gifts and hospitality

Relevant Code paragraphs: 8 and 13

Summary: This document provides key information and answers frequently asked questions about registering gifts and hospitality under the 2007 revised Code of Conduct for members.

Date published: 1 October 2007

Key facts

- You must register any gifts or hospitality worth £25 or over that you receive in connection with your official duties as a member. You must also register the source (for example, the person, firm, body or company) of the gift or hospitality.
- You must register the gift or hospitality and its source within 28 days of receiving it.
- You automatically have a personal interest in a matter if it relates to or is likely to affect the source of the gift or hospitality that is registered.
- You must declare the existence and nature of the gift or hospitality, the source who gave it to you, how the business under consideration relates to that source, and then decide whether that interest is also a prejudicial interest.
- Once three years have passed since you registered the gift or hospitality, your obligation to disclose that interest to any relevant meeting ceases.

Frequently asked questions

Q1 Is the gift or hospitality connected to my official duties as a member?

You should ask yourself, “would I have been given this if I was not on the council”? If you are in doubt as to the motive behind a gift or hospitality, we recommend that you register it or speak to your monitoring officer (or your parish or town clerk where appropriate). What matters is to show who you have received a gift or hospitality from, and to make that known when business related to them is discussed at a council meeting at which you are present.

You do not need to register gifts and hospitality which are not related to your role as a member, such as Christmas gifts from your friends and family, or gifts which you do not accept.

However, you should always register a gift or hospitality if it could be seen as something given to you because of your position or if your authority requires you to do so. It may also be good practice to register declined gifts.

Q2 What if I do not know the value of a gift or hospitality?

The general rule is, if in doubt as to the value of a gift or hospitality, you should register it as a matter of good practice and in accordance with the principles of openness and accountability in public life.

You should also register an accumulation of small gifts you receive from the same source over a short period that add up to £25 or more.

Q3 What about official gifts or hospitality given to the civic mayor or chair of a council?

There are no special rules for those who serve as mayor or chair of an authority. Gifts that are clearly made to the authority do not need to be registered. Gifts made directly to a mayor or chair’s charity appeal also do not need to be registered.

On the other hand such gifts ought to be recorded for audit, and perhaps insurance purposes on the council’s asset inventory. Although the mayor or chair may attend many social functions they are not exempt from the requirement to register hospitality.

However, where the hospitality is extended to the office holder for the time being rather than the individual, the Standards Board takes the view that there is no requirement under the Code to register the hospitality.

All hospitality over £25 must be registered under the Code.

Q4 What does “hospitality” mean?

Hospitality can be defined as any food, drink, accommodation or entertainment provided free of charge or heavily discounted.

Q5 Does the revised Code require me to register the interests of people that give me gifts or hospitality?

No. The Standards Board believes the revised Code requires you to register any gifts or hospitality worth £25 or over that you received in connection with your official duties, and the source of the gift or hospitality.

Q6 Do I have to transfer my gifts and hospitality register from before 2007 onto the new, publicly available, general register of interests?

If you were a member prior to the revised Code being introduced in 2007, you are likely to have a register of gifts and hospitality which was separate to the publicly available registers of members’ interests under the 2001 Code.

You do not need to copy or transfer your register of gifts and hospitality onto your general register of interests under the revised Code. This is because we believe the new Code cannot be applied retrospectively.

As a result, gifts and hospitality received prior to the revised Code coming into effect in your authority (on 1 October 2007 or on the date your authority adopts it - whichever is earlier), will also not give rise to a personal interest under the revised Code.

Personal and prejudicial interests

Relevant Code paragraphs: 8 – 13

Summary: This document provides key information and answers to frequently asked questions about the ethical framework for local government and the role of the Standards Board for England.

Date published: 1 October 2007

Key facts

Personal interests

There are two types of personal interest.

You have a personal interest in any business of your authority where it relates to or is likely to affect:

- 1) An interest that you must register.
- 2) An interest that is not on your register but where the well-being or financial position of you, members of your family, or people with whom you have a close association, is likely to be affected by the business of your authority more than it would affect the majority of:
 - inhabitants of the ward or electoral divisions affected by the decision (in the case of authorities with wards or electoral divisions)
 - inhabitants of the assembly constituency affected by the decision (in the case of the Greater London Authority)
 - inhabitants of the authority's area (in all other cases)

Note:

- 1) You must declare that you have a personal interest and the nature of that interest, as soon as it becomes apparent to you in all meetings before the matter is discussed.
- 2) There are two exemptions to the rule on declaring a personal interest, which is a key change under the revised Code.

Exemptions apply where an interest arises solely from membership of, position of control or management on:

- Any other body to which you were appointed or nominated by the authority.
- Any other body exercising functions of a public nature for example, if you have been appointed as a school governor.

In these exceptional circumstances you only need to declare your interest if and when you speak on a matter, provided that you do not have a prejudicial interest (see below).

Prejudicial interests

Your personal interest will also be a prejudicial interest if it meets all of the following conditions:

- a) The matter does not fall within one of the exempt categories of decisions under paragraph 10(2)(c), for example, setting the council tax.
- b) The matter affects your interests financially or a licensing or regulatory matter, for example an application for a grant funding to a body on your register of interests, or a planning or licensing application made by you or a body on your register of interests.
- c) A member of the public, who knows the relevant facts, would reasonably think your personal interest so significant that it is likely to prejudice your judgement of the public interest.

Note: in order for your interest to be prejudicial, it must be a financial or regulatory matter.

What to do if you have a prejudicial interest

If you have a prejudicial interest in a matter being discussed at a meeting:

- You must declare that you have a prejudicial interest and the nature of that interest as soon as the interest becomes apparent.
- You should leave the room unless members of the public are allowed to make representations, give evidence or answer questions about the matter. If this is the case, you can also attend the meeting for that purpose.
- You must leave the room immediately once you have finished speaking, or when the meeting decides that you have finished (if that is earlier).

Frequently asked questions

Q1 Is paragraph 12(2) mandatory for my authority?

Paragraph 12(2) is mandatory for most authorities. However, paragraph 12(2) is not mandatory for the following authorities:

- parish and town councils
- English and Welsh police authorities
- the Greater London Authority
- national park authorities
- fire and rescue authorities

If your authority wishes paragraph 12 (2) to apply, it will need to pass a resolution adopting the Model Code of Conduct including paragraph 12(2).

If your authority is a parish or town council and you wish to adopt paragraph 12(2), you can do so by adopting the Standards Board's Model Code of Conduct for parish and town councils 2007, which is available on our website on our website -

www.standardsboard.gov.uk

If paragraph 12(2) is included in your authority's Code, the Standards Board recommends that standing orders or procedural rules should be put in place for clarity. These should clearly set out the circumstances in which members of the public can attend the authority's meetings to make representations, give evidence or answer questions.

If your authority does not provide members of the public with any right to speak, paragraph 12(2) will have no effect at your authority. This means that members with a prejudicial interest would have to continue to leave the meeting room after declaring the nature and extent of their interest.

Q2 What rights are available to members with a prejudicial interest?

Paragraph 12(2) gives members with a prejudicial interest in a matter the same rights as members of the public to speak at a meeting on the matter. Members must then leave before the main discussion and voting takes place.
