

Growing Success

The Council is responsible for promoting the economic, social and environmental wellbeing of our communities, so that we can all enjoy a good quality of life. To do this we must work with and bring together a variety of partners from the public, private and voluntary sectors.

This partnership has a Sustainable Community Strategy for Huntingdonshire, which sets out how, by working together, we can meet local and national priorities.

‘Growing Success’ is the Council’s plan of how we will achieve our part of the Sustainable Community Strategy. It is based on detailed research and importantly what our communities have told us. We need to balance and reconcile many competing demands and this plan will be used to help us prioritise and allocate resources.

‘Growing Success’ identifies the aims we will be working towards as a Council and how we plan to deliver them to meet the needs of people in Huntingdonshire.

This plan will be reviewed every three years to make sure that our priorities are still the right ones and that we are doing the best we can for Huntingdonshire. Every year we will look at how well we have done in achieving our objectives and targets.

Local Context – A diverse district

Huntingdonshire is a diverse area of nearly 350 sq miles. Currently our population is around 160,000: approximately half live in four market towns - Huntingdon, St Neots, St Ives and Ramsey - with the remainder in key settlements and rural villages set in attractive countryside.

It is a generally prosperous area where the majority of people enjoy a good quality of life. In a 2006 survey 91% of people were very satisfied or satisfied with Huntingdonshire as a place to live. The majority (60%) indicated that they were satisfied with the quality and amount of natural environment and the level of social and health services (63%).

However, the Council recognizes that this general picture does not apply to all individuals and communities. Some communities have more needs than others. Some areas in the market towns are experiencing higher levels of relative deprivation compared with Huntingdonshire as a whole or the region generally. Huntingdon North ward has the lowest levels of both household income and educational attainment in the district and is in the 10% most deprived areas in Cambridgeshire. The Eynesbury ward in St Neots also has examples of need including lower levels of skills, education and training. Parts of that ward are also in the worst 10% of areas in the County.

Many villages lack an adequate range of services and facilities in their immediate localities. Many continue to rely on employment opportunities characterised by lower wages, often due to seasonal work, and lower skills and attainment. In our villages some communities sit next to more prosperous ones where local residents commute to higher paid work within or outside the district. Public transport is perceived as poor and is a major contributor to dissatisfaction with the quality of life. However, transportation along the main travel corridors is good – with the exception of the A14 trunk road at peak times. Travel around the market towns and on local roads is reasonable although congestion, particularly at peak times, has been highlighted as a growing concern of local residents.

The level of crime compared with national figures is low and most people feel safe in Huntingdonshire. This is reflected in a recent survey with 91% of residents saying they feel safe in their local area and only 23% feel unsafe after dark. However, in a few communities crime is relatively high and this has a detrimental impact on daily life. For others, the fear of crime or antisocial behaviour/disorder is a disproportionate cause for concern.

Many people have highlighted the affordability of housing as a particular issue for them and their families. The last 'Quality of Life' survey reported 42% of residents satisfied with the availability of housing and 28% satisfied with the affordability of housing. Surveys have identified the requirement for 585 new social rented homes each year to meet local needs. There is a further need for 470 low cost homes for people who are unable to afford to buy their homes but would like to do so.

Life expectancy in Huntingdonshire is high compared to the national average. In the 2001 census 73.37% of people described their health as 'good'. This is almost 5% higher than the national average. Although for some sections of our communities and some parts of the district the statistics are not as good – there are health inequalities.

The cleanliness of the district continues to be kept to a high standard with only 7% of our streets been assessed as having significant deposits of litter and 83% of our residents are satisfied that Huntingdonshire is a clean green attractive place.

Last year there were over 1.5 million visits to the Council's leisure centres and active users of our leisure centres amount to about 10% of the local population. Yet there is a demand for more as only 41% of residents are satisfied with the general level of leisure facilities available in the area.

Growth

Since the early 1970s, Huntingdonshire has accommodated a large amount of new housing and job growth.

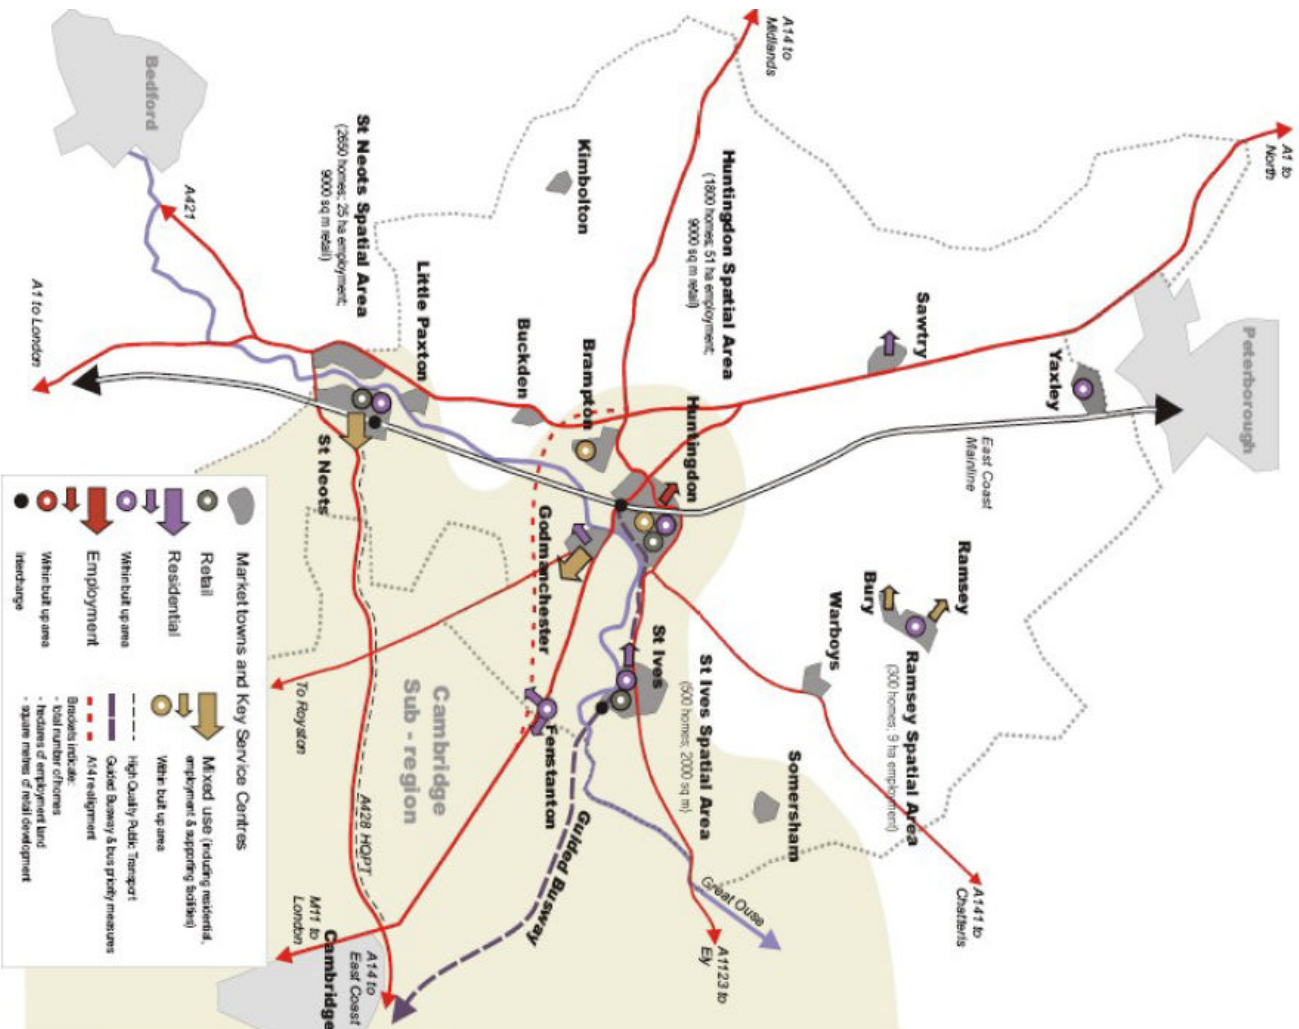

Huntingdonshire is at the centre of the Cambridge to Peterborough growth area and managing the opportunities and pressures from growth will be a continuing focus for the Council. To meet the needs of our communities we expect that Huntingdonshire will continue to accommodate a large amount of additional housing and jobs. Our role will include balancing the needs of new or expanding communities, which will require new infrastructure and services, with those of nearby communities which might be affected by growth but who don't have the same level of services and facilities. We will also need to consider the needs of those communities which don't grow and which might lack local services, facilities and opportunities. Managing the impact of growth is a key challenge for our environment. This has involved ensuring an adequate supply of land while minimizing the adverse environmental effects of development, including loss of greenfield sites, the urbanization of rural settlements, problems associated with increased usage of the private car and additional waste. Most of the growth in Huntingdonshire has involved new housing. An important role for the Council will be to ensure that there enough jobs so local people can live and work in Huntingdonshire.

The majority of growth has been and will continue to be located within Huntingdon and St Neots, our largest towns and key economic and service centres. There will be a lesser scale of development in the other market towns of St Ives and Ramsey. In rural areas new development will be limited and will be restricted to a number of key settlements. In villages there will be limited growth to meet local needs. The Council's resources will be focused upon the need to reinvigorate all of our towns and to assist our more deprived communities, including villages. Because of the current needs the provision of new affordable homes to rent and buy will remain an important issue.

Specifically the Council is proposing the significant extension to St Neots with a mixed housing development and retail development. The Council's proposed Spatial Strategy sets out how we see the different parts of the District developing. It identifies the different types of settlement within the District and how they will develop. It shows how and where the growth in housing, employment and retailing will be accommodated, and sets out priorities for areas that will be protected from development. The Key Diagram below illustrates the locations and directions of growth for the new homes, employment and retail.

Huntingdonshire Core Strategy Key Diagram.

Our Vision

The Community Strategy's long term vision is based on what local people have told us is important for them now and in the future, which is:

Huntingdonshire is a place where current and future generations have a good quality of life and can –

- Make the most of opportunities that come from living in a growing and developing district;
- Enjoy the benefits of continued economic success;
- Access suitable homes, jobs, services, shops, culture and leisure opportunities;
- Realise their full potential;
- Maintain the special character of our market towns, villages and countryside; and
- Live in an environment that is safe and protected from the effects of climate change and where valuable natural resources are used wisely.

To support this the Council will strive to:

- Make the most of the opportunities that come from growth by promoting the development of sustainable communities;
- Enable people to realise their full potential and have access to suitable homes, jobs and services;
- Work towards achieving a balance between social, economic and environmental needs;
- Maintain 'excellent' standards.

Roles

The Council has many roles that will influence or help to achieve the vision and our aims for Huntingdonshire, including:

‘Place making’, by this we mean:

Delivering the shared vision, with our partners and local communities, as to how Huntingdonshire will develop. This will mean more growth and change but in a sustainable way that meets local needs now and in the future. Development must reflect the distinctive character of our towns and rural areas and must include adequate infrastructure, community facilities and opportunities to work so that our communities are places where people want to live and work. The Local Development Framework will play a large part in helping us to fulfil this role.

Community leadership, by this we mean:

Representing Huntingdonshire; setting out the vision for our communities in partnerships with others; challenging and scrutinising services (including those we provide); making decisions; setting priorities for the area and the Council and being accountable for the choices made.

It requires us to recognise that our communities are diverse and have different needs, some greater than others; welcome diversity; understand that ‘one size does not fit all’; and recognise that achieving equality does not mean treating everyone the same.

Empowerment, by this we mean:

Helping local people and acting as their advocate and working closely with town and parish councils, communities and neighbourhoods and community and voluntary organisations. Listening and communicating with local residents and supporting the representative role of local councillors and helping people to get involved.

Bringing together services, by this we mean:

Shaping and bringing together services around the needs of residents and marshalling resources to best serve individuals and communities, particularly in the areas of most need.

Aims

In seeking to balance environmental, social and economic factors the Council has six aims for its communities that it is working towards and three aims for the Council itself, each with a series of objectives. The individual objectives need to be achieved if we are going to make progress and achieve the vision of the future.

The Community aims are:

- A clean, 'green' and attractive place
- Housing that meets individual needs
- Safe, active and inclusive communities
- Healthy living
- Developing communities sustainably
- A strong, diverse economy

The Council aims are:

- To improve our systems and practices
- To learn and develop
- To maintain sound finances

Managing Our Performance

The Council has been rated as 'Excellent' in the Government's system for grading Councils, but we are not complacent. 'Growing Success' is designed to help us maintain and improve the very high standards we have achieved. This plan brings work together to ensure that it is linked to achieving our priorities.

The Council has a comprehensive performance management framework, which draws together the things we must achieve to meet our aims and vision. It enables us to examine our performance from four perspectives: community, financial, process and people.

Specific

Our corporate and management plans are kept under constant review. We publish the progress we make towards meeting our aims annually and an important way we test our progress is to encourage our communities to share with us their views on what they think about Huntingdonshire, our services and what they expect of us. We also have an annual cycle for reviewing management and operational plans, and team and individual performance plans. These can be changed on a more frequent basis should we find it appropriate. A quarterly performance management plan helps us to monitor progress and achievements.

Collecting data and information is an integral part of performance reporting and we are committed to continuously improving the arrangements for securing the quality of data so that it is reliable, accurate, timely and helps us to judge performance accordingly. Each year the quality of our processes and procedures will be reviewed by an external auditor.
